

Bromus carinatus
California Brome

GRASS - short-lived perennial.

3 - 4' high.

Large, leafy bunchgrass.

Flattened spike-lets in open panicles, often nodding.

Native habitat: dry open places and roadsides in shrubland, woodland, coniferous forests below 7500' - throughout California (except desert) to Alaska, Texas and northern Mexico.

Note: Bromus carinatus var. carinatus grows in shaded areas such as oak woodland.

Effective in a large-scale meadow or in small patches as an accent in a garden.
