

Dichelostemma capitatum

Blue Dicks, Wild Hyacinth

PERENNIAL from corm
1 - 2' high.

Flowers light lavender to dark purple in dense umbel at end of tall stalk - March to May.

Native habitat: clearings in coastal sage scrub, open woodlands, grassland, desert - coast to 7000' (most of California west of Sierras).

Full sun to part shade. Frost resistant.

Good drainage.

Can be watered during active growth and flowering, but no summer water.

Can naturalize.

Plant corms closely spaced, 3 - 4" deep, in mid to late autumn.

Good with other native bulbs and perennials.
