

Fragaria vesca ssp. californica
Wild Strawberry

Photograph by Margaret L. Fillius

Photograph by John R. Hyde

HERBACEOUS PERENNIAL, GROUNDCOVER
4 - 6" high. Spreads by above-ground runners.
Flowers are attractive, white - spring to early summer.
Bright red, tasty berries.

Native habitat: shady areas, especially in forests, woodlands and chaparral below 7000' - in much of California and northern Baja California.

Part shade to full shade. Frost resistant.
Water 2 - 4 x/month.

Good for rock gardens, or under trees - good shady groundcover.
Mixes well with iris.

