Photograph by Carolyn Martus

SHRUB - evergreen.

5' high, 5' spread. Dense mounding growth habit.

Leaves narrow, light green.

Flowers inconspicuous - spring. Striking berries turning red then nearly black by fall.

Horticultural selection from cuttings from San Bruno Mountain.

Full sun to shade. Frost resistant.

Adaptable to different soil conditions but can have mold problems in damp heavy soil.

Disease resistant. When becomes woody can be cut to ground to allow crown sprouting.
